Midwest in the Mitten: 77th Meeting in Ann Arbor

The Local Arrangements Committee for the 2018 annual meeting of the Midwest Chapter of the Music Library Association wishes to welcome you to Ann Arbor, Michigan! This year's meeting will take place October 18-20 and will be held at the Hilton Garden Inn, Ann Arbor and the University of Michigan School of Music, Theatre and Dance.

The Hilton Garden Inn is located just 2 miles south of the University of Michigan campus and downtown Ann Arbor. The room rate is $139 plus tax and includes parking. To make a reservation, call the hotel at (734) 327-6400 and tell the staff you are booking a reservation under the

From the Chair

Katie Buehner

Greetings all,

The annual Midwest meeting is mere weeks away in Ann Arbor, Michigan. The Local Arrangements Committee, led by Jason Imbesi, has been working hard to prepare a great experience for all who can make the trip to "the Mitten". Be sure to check out their article in this issue, which provides a useful overview of the meeting and links to the meeting website. Early registration has passed, but if you've not registered, be sure to do so as soon as possible to assist the LAC in their preparations for our arrival.

The Program Committee has assembled a wonderful program that includes sessions on women in music, discovery and linked data, stacks management, institutional repositories, collection building and processing, and an opera titled Hot Tubs. Thanks to Keith Cochran, Matt Ertz, Jason Imbesi, Eleanor Lange, and Zoua Sylvia Yang for serving on the Program Committee and putting together an exciting slate of presentations and posters.

I'm pleased to announce that Midwest Notebook has a new editor – Kristi Bergland! Kristi is the Music Metadata Librarian at the University of Minnesota and was previously manager of the Copy Cataloging unit. Kristi studied music and math at St. Olaf College and was a Fulbright Scholar in Scandinavian Music at the University of Trondheim, Norway. She holds a DMA in vocal performance and pedagogy from the University of Minnesota and an MLIS from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Her research interests include Norwegian art song and traditional music and the music of the American Moravians. Welcome aboard Kristi, and congratulations on your first issue of Notebook.

The Midwest Chapter applied for grant funding from the national organization in the spring and received $500.00 to support the purchase of a camera, memory card, and tripod. This equipment will be used in Ann Arbor to live stream sessions via Facebook. There

Music Library guestroom block. For other instructions for booking a room online or for more general information on the conference hotel, please visit the hotel section of the meeting website. Please book your room by September 11, 2018 in order to receive the group rate.

Early regular registration this year is $75, and the deadline is also September 11, 2018. After that date, regular registration is $85. Registration includes Friday morning continental breakfast, lunch, and afternoon snack, as well as Saturday morning hot breakfast. Registration forms for the meeting can be found elsewhere in this newsletter and at the meeting website.

Ann Arbor is host to interesting attractions and dining options, many just a short ride away from both the UM School of Music, Theatre and Dance and the Hilton Garden Inn. For a list of recommended activities, events, and restaurants, or for information about travel to and around Ann Arbor, please take a look at the "All About Ann Arbor" and "Transportation" sections of the meeting website.

The Program Committee (Keith Cochran, Chair, Matt Ertz, Jason Imbesi, Eleanor Lange, Zoua Sylvia Yang) has put together an interesting lineup of conference presentations spanning a diverse range of topics that include music collections and resources, instruction, and music description and discovery. We are sure there will be topics of interest to all attendees. In addition to the conference meetings and presentations, a reception will be held on Thursday evening. All meetings and sessions will be held at the Hilton Garden Inn, except those on Friday afternoon which will be held at the UM School of Music, Theatre and Dance. For more specific information about the program, please peruse the program section of the meeting website.

We look forward to seeing you in Ann Arbor!

will be more information forthcoming on the Midwest Chapter blog about the live stream. As this will be a first attempt at live streaming from a chapter meeting, please do allow for technical hiccups. However, we are excited to explore this method of providing access to conference content for people who are unable to travel to Ann Arbor.

There is an upcoming vacancy on the Executive Committee for chair-elect, as Keith Cochran will conclude his service as past-chair of the chapter. I am working to form a Nominating Committee and there should be an announcement soon on the blog and listserv about next steps in this process.

I hope to see many of you in Ann Arbor or chatting on the live stream feed soon!

Katie
